

FREE
Tenth Annual
Environmental Education Teacher Workshop
June 9-13, 2008
Presented by Madison County Soil and Water
Conservation District

This Huntsville Teacher Workshop is a one-week workshop for teachers seeking professional development in environmental education and who are interested in learning about environmental topics and issues. Workshop hours are similar to school days with sessions beginning at 8:00a.m. and ending around 4:00pm. Any K-12 teacher currently teaching is eligible to attend. Participants will be required to attend all sessions of the workshop to qualify for the CEU credit.

Sampling of Topics covered include:

Ecology – Endangered species, food webs, habitat protection

Natural Resources – Water, wildlife and forestry

Waste Management – Recycling, composting and incineration

Farming – Yesterday, today and tomorrow

Pollution Prevention – Pollutants, sources of pollution and solutions

Hands-on presentations – Field trips – Content presentations by environmental experts – LOTS of free materials and lesson plans and Certificate of Completion
Tours/Field Trips to SWDA, AWS, Water Treatment Plant and City Landfill
Jeff Webster/Charles Butler/Dave Mann, Jr., Farm Day Tour – Fields, Farm Equipment, Cattle Operation/Land Judging/Water Testing/Building a Micro-Aquarium/Animal Tracks/Lots of Make and Take Items/ Tour 100 Year Old One-Room Schoolhouse and Lots MORE!!

Sampling of Presenters for this Workshop:

Dr. Doug Phillips – Discovering Alabama (Seen on Public Television)

Representative of Farmers Federation

Curt Miller – Our Rural Heritage

Dixie Bray – SWDA & Covanta Waste to Energy

Mike Swistek - Allied Waste Services

Susan Weber – Hays Wetlands

Tom Summerville – Land Judging

The workshop will be conducted at Huntsville Utilities Water Department at 4203 Triana Blvd, (corner of Johnson and Triana Blvd).

Deadline for applications for this workshop is March 15, 2008. This workshop fills quickly. This will be on a first-applied, first-accepted basis. After the class is filled, we will take a few applications to hold in case of cancellations. Please call Kathy Walker at 532-1692, extension 101 for an application or further details.

